A DELIGHTFUL TWIST ON A CLASSIC GRIMM'S FAIRY TALE is revealed in the new musical Sleeping Beauty Wakes, presented by Center Theatre Group and Deaf West Theatre. Featuring the indie pop/rock sensation GrooveLily on stage with both deaf and hearing actors, Sleeping Beauty Wakes is a fun and free adaptation of the Grimm's fairy tale. After her 100-year snooze, Beauty awakes in a new time and place where everything is strange—the palace is gone, all the princes have given up, and now she has insomnia!

Or is she still asleep and dreaming? As they did with Big River, Deaf West Theater delightfully twists another classic into a unique musical where spoken English and American Sign Language are interwoven with music, dance and song to create an exceptional theatrical event.

Brendan Milburn, singer and on drums, and Valerie Vigoda, singer and electric violinist, are members (with Gene Lewin, singer and on drums) of GrooveLily, a music group that, with their blend of folk, rock, jazz, classical music and pop, have a unique niche all of their own. Some of their CDs include Little Light and Are We There Yet?

Rachel Sheinkin received the Tony Award last year for the libretto of The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee.
